Vaani's social media handles are now flooded with messages slamming her for working with Fawad and promoting the film even after the attack. People also questioned her silence and called for boycotting the film and the actress as well. "Boycott Vaani Kapoor," a user wrote on X, while another commented on Instagram, "His country killnour people and you are touring around with him?" "Vaani kapoor was doing insta live with Fawad khan to promote her film when Innocent Indian men were being deleted, she didn't even put a story about Pahalgam (sic)," an angry netizen wrote on X. Abir Gulaal has been facing strong opposition in India, particularly in Maharashtra, ever since the film was announced. Maharashtra Navnirman Sena leader Ameya Khopkar had threatened theatre owners against screening the film in the theatres of the state. "No matter how many times we've said that Pakistani artists' films will not be allowed to release in India, some rotten apples still crop up. In such cases.
